

A successful workday - questions

---

How does the character experience success at work?

What makes them feel proud and competent after a workday?

How does the character respond to help received at work?

In what situations have they asked for help from a supervisor or colleagues? How do they feel about asking for help?

How does support from the work community affect the character's sense of success? How does interaction with colleagues influence their performance and self-esteem?

How does a successful workday affect the character's feelings of loneliness and exclusion? Does it reduce these feelings and improve their relationship with the workplace and others?
